

Knowledge deserves protection!

Our society is increasingly driven by knowledge. Knowledge generation and exploitation is a big challenge to be met. Essential to the success of valuation of knowledge is protection of that knowledge. Intellectual Property rights (patents, trademarks, copyright, etc.) are essential for this.

V.O. is one of the larger patent and trademark firms in Europe, with offices in the Netherlands, Belgium and Germany. Among our clients are leading national and international companies and institutes. For our office in Arnhem (the Netherlands) we are looking for top talents (m/f) for the position of:

Trainee Patent Attorney

As a patent attorney you discuss the latest developments in science and technology with researchers and designers. You lay down the invention in a carefully worded patent application that you guide through the application procedure. Science and technology, law and language: several disciplines featuring in one profession. You get an inside view of innovation in progress, advise on (un)favorable directions in research and development, and build up a patent portfolio for your clients. Where necessary, you take action against patent infringement or against patent rights of competitors of your clients anywhere in the world.

Enough of a challenge?

If so, we would appreciate your application. You have an academic degree, preferably in physics, electrical engineering, mechanical engineering, or comparable discipline. Also, you have a broad interest in legal and linguistic aspects. In addition to a thorough command of English, you have an excellent command of the Dutch language. V.O. offers excellent compensation.
